Per N.C. General Statutes-Chapter 119 Article 5, Liquefied Petroleum Gases

§ 119-58. Unlawful acts. (b) Every supply tank or container with its regulating equipment connected in a service system, shall be identified while in service by the supplier with an attached tag, label, or other marking that includes the name of the person supplying liquefied petroleum gas to the system, and it shall be unlawful for any person, other than the supplier or the owner of the system, to disconnect, interrupt or fill the system with liquefied petroleum gas without the consent of the supplier.

K. B. Johnson Oil & Gas Co., (“Company”) requires each customer desiring Company to fill tank(s) not owned by Company to provide proof of tank ownership to comply with the above North Carolina General Statute. This tank ownership affidavit is being provided by you to guarantee Company that proof of tank ownership cannot be documented and that all efforts have been exhausted to provide such documentation. This affidavit is provided by you in lieu of a typical tank ownership document (invoice, bill of sale, etc).

By signing below I, (“Customer”) certify that I am the owner of the above-referenced tank(s) and hereby grant permission to Company to fill tank(s) per customer agreement with Company. If it is discovered at a later date that any tank(s) are not my property, I agree to hold Company harmless for any costs or penalties that may arise from this discovery. It is also understood that until tank ownership status can be clarified, Company shall cease filling tank(s).
